GEORGETOWN, Guyana — Security police today questioned members of the opposition People's Progressive Party following a claim by Prime Minister Forbes Burnham that a Castroite terrorist plot to overthrow his government by force had been uncovered.

He said security reports named opposition leader Cheddi Jagan and his American-born wife, Janet, among persons who had contacts with alleged Venezuelan terrorist Pedro Beria.

Mrs. Jagan, general secretary of the PPP, denied knowing Beria and dismissed Burnham's charges as "a fantastic fairy tale of intrigue."
